the annual memorial event for the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks in New York City, Washington, D.C. and Pennsylvania has substantially grown. On Sunday, September 8, about 500 participants took part in the fourth annual stair climb, now held at Salt River Fields at Talking Stick. With the temperature already in the 90s, stair climbers lined up along the baseball diamond before the roughly 8 a.m. start. Participants went up and down the many rows of steps at Salt River Fields, paying tribute to the fallen New York firefighters, police officers and emergency medical responders by climbing the equivalent of the 110 stories of the World Trade Center.

Before the start, SRPMIC President Martin Harvier shared a welcome and an opening prayer. Guest speakers included Salt River Fire Department Chief Daryl Dash and Salt River Police Department Chief Karl Auerbach. "We are the only fire department in the state that has a memorial like this," Dash said.

in the schools," said Victoria Corlett, director of student support services for Salt River Schools. "Then throughout the month of July, HHS Assistant Director John Godfrey and I met with Behavioral Health Services Manager Erin Wilkinson and put together specifics for support in the schools." Corlett continued that the goal for SRS is to close the gap between schools, families and BHS and to make the services more readily accessible to families. All staff, students and families have been excited to learn about the services now available inside the schools.

"Providing Support to Families and Students." Salt River Schools (SRS) has a new partnership with the tribal government's Health and Human Services (HHS) in which the Behavioral Health Services (BHS) division will provide the schools with three licensed behavioral health specialists working in offices inside the schools. Salt River Elementary, Salt River High School and the Accelerated Learning Academy will all get direct counseling services on-site for both students and families. Services began with this new school year.

The idea was brought up at the director's meetings as a need for departments to collaborate. From that meeting, SRPMIC Assistant Community Manager Lena Jackson reached out to Acting Superintendent Dr. Cynthia Clary about setting up a meeting with SRS, HHS and other tribal departments.

"We then met with HHS and ... created a plan for support

"We had several parents that didn't know where to go to get their children support," said Corlett. "They were excited to learn that the services would be available at the school."

Around 18 and 20 families are currently seeking services at the sites. SRS receives referrals daily. "We have a referral system in place, and there are also walk-in appointments at the sites as well," said Corlett.

As a 4-year-old, Devan Tahmahkera would sit in front of the television and watch golf with his father, Monroe Tahmahkera. It was moments like this that led the now 9-year-old boy on the path to achieving his dream: to become a professional golfer.

He is the son of Monroe Tahmahkera and the grandson of Roelene and Gary Tahmahkera. When he was 5, Tahmahkera got his first set of toy golf clubs. When he turned 6, he started playing with real clubs and going to practice at golf courses like Talking Stick Golf Club and Dobson Ranch Golf Course. Today, Tahmahkera practices at (Top) A Salt River firefighter high fives 9/11 Memorial Stair Climb participants on September 8. Climbers lined up around the baseball field at Salt River Fields before hitting the rows of steps. The event has grown substantially over the last few years. About 500 people took part in the memorial fundraiser.

(Left) Some climbers wore their full firefighting gear in honor of dozens of firefighters who lost their life at the World Trade Center during the attacks on September 11, 2001. In the photo you can see how far the climbing line stretched around the baseball field from roughly the first base to left-center field.

SRFD Firefighter/EMT Gabriel Scabby participates in the stair climb.

“Four years ago, 20 were walking up towers at Talking Stick Resort. [Now], look around you—it’s amazing how many participants we have. Thank you for your participation and welcome to Salt River.”

Participants included SRFD firefighters/EMS, SRPD representatives and others with connections to the Community. Other participants included area firefighters and public-safety supporters. A few dozen participants climbed in full firefighter gear.

“Although this anniversary is one of tragedy, it is also an anniversary of triumph,” Auerbach said. “The terrorists hoped to bring the people of the United States to their knees; instead they brought us to our feet. The attacks strengthened our love for our country and resulted in an unprecedented display of patriotism that continues today. It is important that we show our respect for the victims of that terrible day; however, it is of equal importance that we honor and celebrate the countless acts of courage, compassion, loyalty and responsibility that have been demonstrated by our police officers, firefighters, EMS workers, our community and our citizens.”

Climber registration was $30, and the event was initially capped at 343 climbers to commemorate the 343 firefighters who died at the World Trade Center. Family, children and friends participated for free. The registration fee included a commemorative T-shirt.

The event funds the programs provided by the National Fallen Firefighters Foundation to support the families of local fallen firefighters.

Harvier said it was important to remember those who lost their lives as a result of the attacks on 9/11. He thanked the participants and parents for bringing their children to be part of the remembrance.

“Opportunities like this, to be able to remember and to also help others at the same time, it’s surely an opportunity to say the phrase, ‘Never forget,’” he said.

AROUND THE COMMUNITY Chair Volleyball League Comes to WOLF

The Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community Recreational Services Department has been hosting the Senior Chair Volleyball League since August 27. Games continue through October 1 at the Way of Life Facility. Teams meet Tuesdays for six weeks, with a mixture of Salt River teams and Fort McDowell teams. The league is non-competitive and a way for seniors to have fun and be active. Recreation staff said that the league is new, and next time they plan to open it up to other communities around the Valley. Based on how the league goes this year, they also may start a pickleball league for seniors. —Richie Corrales, O’odham Action News

And then there were five. Recently, Salt River Elementary School teacher Lynette Stant was named a top-five finalist for Arizona Teacher of the Year. Stant is a third-grade teacher and has more than a dozen years of teaching experience.

The five finalists are known as "Ambassadors for Excellence," and one will be named the 2020 Arizona Educational Foundation Teacher of the Year at a planned luncheon on October 24. Ten finalists were announced earlier this year before the five educators were selected to move on to the final round.

If Stant wins, she'll be the first Salt River teacher to do so and potentially the first Native American teacher in the organization's history. Stant is a member of the National Indian Education Association and can be found via her Instagram page at @stantlyn2.

The Arizona Teacher of the Year receives $15,000, is the state's candidate for National Teacher of the Year, and wins program memberships and a variety of other prizes. The four runners-up each receive $5,000. Last year, a teacher at Maryvale High School in Phoenix won Arizona's top award.

This year's winner will be announced at the awards luncheon at the Arizona Biltmore in Phoenix.

The four other Arizona finalists are Ben Collinsworth (Flowing Wells Unified School District, Tucson), Nate Rios (Flowing Wells Unified School District, Tucson), Sheila Rowe (Glendale Elementary School District) and Taryn Tidwell (Mesa Public Schools).

The award program was founded in 1983.

Stay tuned to O'odham Action News for more about Stant. For more information about the award and to watch a video featuring the five finalists, visit www.azedfoundation.org.

Salt River High School Students Work With Award-Winning Native Composer

Seven Salt River High School students showed off their musical talents recently as part of the Native American Composer Apprentice Project at the Heard Museum in Phoenix.

Students Sabin Miguel, Sialik King, Hannah Emilia Renee Reyes-Carmelo, Marcus Walker, Aidan Howard, Guigo Ochoa and Alyssa Francisco, with the help of teachers Rhonda Bowen and Albert Grijalva, worked with award-winning composer Raven Chacon (Navajo) in August.

The students composed their individual music and the Catalyst Quartet performed the music at the Heard Museum on August 30. The event was part of the Grand Canyon Music Festival. Chacon and Michael Begay (Navajo) are composers-in-residence and the quartet is the ensemble-in-residence.

At the Heard Museum, each student shared some information with the roughly two dozen people in attendance about their music before the quartet performed each song.

Salt River Schools Partner with HHS for In School Counseling Services

"The counselors are not part of the schools, they're a partner to the schools," said Constance McFarlin, one of three Salt River Behavior Health counselors. "We are trauma-informed counselors and trained universally, so we work with both youth and adults of pretty much all age groups."

When students have experienced some kind of issues or trauma at home, it can affect their ability to learn at school. This negative impact can start a downward domino effect if it is not addressed right away. By providing these supports to students and families, it helps children be in a better place academically.

"We want to be proactive with students dealing with grief and loss so they can get through school as well as whatever the trauma may be," said McFarlin. "I am meeting with the students when it wouldn't affect their learning time, and I also meet with the teachers as well to make sure nothing in the class is being affected." Not everything that is discussed between students, families and the counselors is shared with the schools.

The school counselors touch on different issues for different age groups; for example, elementary students may have group sessions on bullying and getting along. The high school has its own academic counselors who stay on top of students' academic progress. A school behavioral interventionist works with teachers and students in both schools.

How to Schedule Appointment with BHS Counselor

Any family member(s) who want to meet with the BHS counselor should bring tribal identification and any custody orders. Meeting times are available both during and after school hours.

National Suicide Prevention and Awareness Month

BY RICHIE CORRALES
O'odham Action News
Richie.corrales@srpmic-nsn.gov

September is National Suicide Prevention and Awareness Month, and many organizations, health advocates, Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community members, survivors and their families around the country are spreading the word about suicide awareness.

The SRPMIC Department of Health and Human Services' Prevention and Intervention Services hosted an Applied Suicide Intervention Skills Training (ASIST) for those who would feel comfortable, confident and competent intervening with someone in order to prevent suicide. The workshop went over two days with topics such as recognizing signs, how to support someone, skills practices and group interaction activities.

What Is Suicide?

Suicide is when people direct violence at themselves with the intent to end their lives, and they die as a result of their actions.

A suicide attempt is when someone harms himself with the intent to end his life but does not die as a result of their actions. Many people survive suicide attempts, although some result in serious injuries.

There is no single cause of suicide. Several factors can increase a person's risk of attempting or committing suicide. However, having these factors does not always mean that suicide will occur.

Risk factors for suicide include:

- Previous suicide attempt
- History of depression or other mental health issues
- Alcohol or drug abuse
- Family history of suicide or violence
- Physical illness including pain
- Feeling alone
- Stressful life events, like rejection, divorce, financial crisis or other life transitions or loss
- Exposure to another person's suicide, or to graphic or sensationalized accounts of suicide

An upcoming Glow Walk is planned in the Community for not only suicide awareness, but also domestic violence awareness. According to the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, on average, one person dies by suicide every seven hours in Arizona, which is five times the number of people who die from alcohol-related causes or motor vehicle accidents.

What Can We Do?

Learn the warning signs. Talk to the person supportively if he or she mentions killing themselves, feeling hopeless, having no reason to live, being a burden to others, feeling trapped or experiencing unbearable pain.

Watch for specific behaviors, like an increased use of alcohol or drugs; looking for a way to end their lives, such as searching online for methods; withdrawing from activities; isolating from family and friends; sleeping too much or too little; visiting or calling people to say goodbye; giving away prized possessions; and aggression or fatigue.

Connect the person to a resource such as an ASIST-trained caregiver, a SafeTALK alert helper or the SRPMIC Crisis Network Line (see sidebar).

Arizona Creates Committee on Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls

BY TASHA SILVERHORN
O'odham Action News
tasha.silverhorn2@srpmic-nsn.gov

According to the U.S. Department of Justice, the murder rate for Native American women is 10 times higher than the national average. More than 80% of Alaskan and Indigenous women and girls are victims of assault at some point in their lives, and many end up murdered or missing.

On August 13, Arizona Gov. Doug Ducey signed House Bill 2570, which would establish a 21-member study committee on this issue. This committee members will consist of Arizona's Native American tribes, law enforcement, victim advocates and family members of missing and murdered women and girls. The bill was introduced by Rep. Jennifer Jermaine and passed unanimously in the state legislature.

Tribal leaders and advocates from across Arizona gathered as Ducey signed the bill, including Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community Council member Deanna Scabby.

The committee will gather to learn why so many Indigenous women and girls are assaulted, murdered or missing, and to find ways to stop it from happening to others. The committee hopes to have plans and solutions within the next year.

"Today, we are taking action by shedding light on this issue and finally giving it the attention, it deserves," explained Gov. Ducey during the signing.

"The crisis of missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls is a heart-wrenching reality that tribal communities have been experiencing for far too long," said Ducey. "So many families have been subjected to the grief and pain of losing a loved one who was killed or sadly vanished. Today, Arizona says 'no more'."

Gov. Ducey also thanked families and advocates who are leading this fight for answers, action and justice. He also thanked lawmakers around the state, including Sen. Victoria Steele and Rep. Jermaine.

"In some tribal communities, American Indian women face murder rates 10 times the national rate, yet, there is little to no data to show what exactly is happening," Steele said. "We can't allow our Native sisters to just disappear at this rate and not draw attention to it."

Because August 17 was National Thrift Shop Day, it's a good time to let people know about the Helping Hands Thrift Store. The store has been part of the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community since January 30, 1989. It began as a small thrift shop providing SRPMIC members and non-members with secondhand clothing and household items. The store was originally located in a portable trailer where the Two Waters Building B is now located; now it is located behind the Community Building near the Salt River Pool.

The Helping Hands Thrift Store has been a success thanks to the help of those who continue to donate great items for customers over the years. "We get donations every day. It's to the point where every other day we need to empty out our donation bins," said thrift store clerk Anissa Bejarano.

The store sells clothing for babies, children, men and women, along with housewares, furniture, shoes, watches, jewelry, sunglasses and other miscellaneous items. The store also provides sale days, such as "Dollar a Bag," "50 Percent Off" and "Free Day."

"We always keep everyone in mind. We also started doing sale days on Tuesdays, when the food bank has their bread day," said Bejarano. "We have sales on payday Fridays, and the working women find nice stuff also. On Per Cap sale days, we get really crowded and we make some good sales on those days."

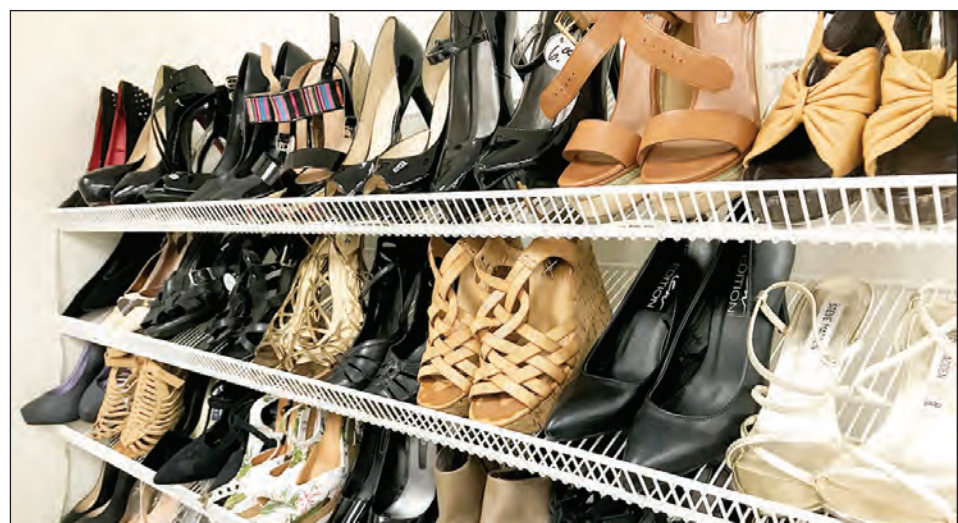

Three donations bins are located east of the store. Sometimes people will leave bigger items at the front gate, explained Cheryl Enos, store manager. The store asks that all items for donation be cleaned/washed so the staff can get them out on the sale racks faster.

Staff members sort and separate the donated items. What they don't use gets donated to surrounding communities or is taken to Goodwill.

"I would like to say thank you to the Community and public who donate and shop here, keeping us in business," said Enos.

When you donate items, the store will give you a tax form to record your donation value.

Helping Hands also provides layaway and referrals. The layaway policy is no money down, items can be on hold for two weeks (unless staff is notified), no layaway on sale days, all layaway stays in the store, one layaway item at a time and must take everything out. Referrals are when SRPMIC Social Services or another government department is assisting families who have, for example, had a house fire. For referrals the customer must have a department referral slip that specifies the items needed. For example, it might say "two tops, two bottoms, two socks, two underwear, and one pair of shoes." One person may use up to three referrals each year.

"In the future we would like to have a newer and larger building, because there is a lot of stuff that gets donated and sometimes gets put in storage," said Enos. "I would like to have a new location along McDowell Road because we get a lot of customers from outside the Community as well."

The Helping Hands Thrift Store is currently closed through October 8 so staff can update the inventory for the fall and winter seasons.

SRPD Adds Five New Police Officers

BY OFF. JOSEPH OROZCO
Salt River Police Department

On August 12, the Salt River Police Department's newest police officers, Victoria Aldaco, Keeth Jones, Gabriel Morgan, Roberto Rangel and Aaron Visconti, were sworn in by Salt River Community Court Judge Darayne Achin in a ceremony held in the SRPMIC Justice Center.

They received their certification as peace officers within the State of Arizona after graduating from the police academy. All five were welcomed to the Community by SRPMIC President Martin Harvier and Vice-President Ricardo Leonard, who spent time with them to learn about their experiences and what had led them to become police officers.

Off. Victoria Aldaco is a Community member who grew up in the Valley before moving to San Francisco. In 2012 she returned to Arizona and became an emergency medical technician (EMT), working at Talking Stick Resort. Wanting to work more closely with the Community, she began working for SRPMIC Senior Services as a home care aide. She enjoyed that but felt the call to serve in a different way, so she tried out and was successful in selection for the SRPD. She said, "It has become time for me to pay it forward, and what better way than to dedicate [my service] to the people of my Community?"

Off. Keeth Jones was born and raised in Arizona and previously worked as a security officer at Casino Arizona and in information technology. He was inspired to become a police officer at a young age, seeing the positive impact that law enforcement officers have made through his personal experiences and encounters. Off. Jones answered the call and now joins his older brother in serving with the SRPD.

Off. Gabriel Morgan was born in San Jose, California, and raised in Los Angeles. He became an EMT in 2009, and in 2012 he moved to Arizona, where he worked as an EMT and bike patrol officer at Casino Arizona. As he met various SRPD officers, he was impressed with their professionalism and dedication to the Community, spurring him to join the SRPD himself.

Off. Roberto Rangel was born and raised in Riverside, California. He grew up in a rough area and would constantly see police in his neighborhood. He and his mother were on their way to school one morning and had a flat tire. An officer arrived and assisted them by changing the tire. Off. Rangel knew then that he wanted to help people the same way. Off. Rangel enjoys spending his free time with his two sons.

Off. Aaron Visconti was born in Kansas and moved to east Mesa in 2000. He attended Skyline High School, where he played football and enjoyed being part of a team. This team mentality led him to serve, knowing that he needed to be part of "something bigger."

The new officers are currently attending three weeks of SRPD New Officer Transitional Training Education (NOTE)

classroom training before beginning their standard 12-week Field Training program. All newly hired officers must work alongside several certified field training officers who coach, mentor and evaluate their readiness to serve the Community as police officers.

"The Community has great reason to be proud of these five newly hired officers," said SRPD Chief Karl G. Auerbach. "They all graduated with high grades and rankings in their police academy class, and each fully embraces and understands our Community-Based Policing philosophy. I am positive they will provide our Community with excellent police services."

SRPD Presents Lifesaving Awards

BY OFF. JOSEPH OROZCO
Salt River Police Department

It was a special occasion on July 31 at the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community Council Meeting. In the presence of the SRPMIC Council, Community members, staff, family members and guests, Salt River Police Department (SRPD) public safety dispatch supervisors Briana DiCarlo and Luisa Ika and police officers Julio Aguirre, Obed Rodriguez and Anthony Walkup received the prestigious Lifesaving Award from SRPD Chief Karl G. Auerbach.

On Saturday, July 6, SRPD officers were dispatched to a residence within the Community where a Community member was unresponsive and not breathing as the result of a drug overdose. SRPD Public Safety Dispatcher Supervisor Luisa Ika took the initial 911 call, but the caller disconnected before an address and the nature of the call could be determined. She utilized specialized technology in the 911 system to locate the area where the telephone call originated, and simultaneously Public Safety Dispatcher Supervisor Briana DiCarlo dispatched SRPD officers to the vicinity. When Ika was able to reconnect with the caller, she obtained the address and details about the patient. She immediately entered a Salt River Fire Department EMS call for service as DiCarlo coordinated the police and fire units dispatched to the scene. This all occurred within 30 seconds of learning this critical patient information. Ika remained on the phone with the caller while police and fire units were enroute, providing continuous pre-arrival medical instructions to the caller and encouraging the family all the while to perform CPR.

SRPD Off. Anthony Walkup arrived on the scene within four minutes after being dispatched. He found the Community member lying on the floor, not breathing and with no pulse. Off. Walkup immediately provided continuous CPR and emergency medical care. Off. Obed Rodriguez then arrived and administered one application of Narcan to the victim. Off. Julio Aguirre arrived and also administered one application of Narcan to the victim, relaying vital medical information and caring for the family. Walkup and Rodriguez continued CPR. When SRFD professionals arrived on scene about one minute later, officers Walkup, Rodriguez and Aguirre had been able to successfully establish a good heartbeat and the victim began to breathe on her own. SRFD professionals then transported the victim to a local hospital, where shortly thereafter she made a full recovery. Chief Auerbach said, "Mrs. Ika and Mrs. DiCarlo followed their dispatcher training and experience to calmly provide CPR and pre-arrival medical directions over the telephone. Off. Anthony Walkup immediately performed CPR, and officers Obed Rodriguez and Julio Aguirre deployed Narcan. Their teamwork resulted in saving this Community member's life! Our Community and the SRPD are so very fortunate to have such dedicated and proficient public safety professionals serving and protecting the Community. We are very proud of them all and so glad they are on the SRPD Team!"

SRPD Promotes Five Team Members

BY OFF. JOSEPH OROZCO
Salt River Police Department

On Friday, August 23, the Salt River Police Department celebrated the unprecedented promotion of five team members within the organization. SRPD has held many promotion ceremonies in the past, but due to the growth of the workload within the Community, the need for quality leaders within the department has grown exponentially.

Kevin Westberg and Michael Albers were promoted to lieutenant. Both officers have exceeded the standard in all of their assignments and supervised many different units as sergeants. They were acting lieutenants prior to their promotion.

Ramon Penunuri and Ryan McMorris were promoted to sergeant. As field training officers, Penunuri and McMorris have trained many of the current SRPD officers to be the professional, courteous and exceptional officers that they are today. Both have gained significant knowledge and experience serving in numerous specialty unit assignments and serving as acting sergeants prior to their promotions.

Briana DiCarlo has been promoted to shift supervisor for the SRPD Public Safety Communications Division. She has 11 years of dedicated service within the division and has been named Dispatcher of the Year three times by the SRPD and two times by the Salt River Fire Department, along with receiving numerous commendations and a Lifesaving Award. DiCarlo served as an acting supervisor before her promotion.

ON REQUEST FOR PERMANENT EXCLUSION
OF JESUS MANUEL FLORES (DOB XX/XX/71)
August 30, 2019

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community (SRPMIC) Council pursuant to Article VII, § 1(g) of the SRPMIC Constitution and Section 7-72 through 7-75 of the SRPMIC Code of Ordinances, appointed a committee to conduct an investigation/hearing to determine whether Mr. Jesus Manuel Flores (DOB XX/XX/71) should be permanently excluded from the boundaries of the SRPMIC.

The Salt River Police Department ("SRPD") initiated the exclusion process and allege that Mr. Jesus Manuel Flores' presence within the SRPMIC is detrimental to the peace, health and morals of the SRPMIC or that he violates the laws of the SRPMIC, and as such his physical presence should be excluded from the SRPMIC. This exclusion request was initiated because of his extensive police contacts for raising and selling of roosters for illegal cockfighting purposes, allegations of animal cruelty, allegations of disorder conduct and his unauthorized dumping and burning of trash.

The Community's Exclusion Committee has scheduled a hearing to consider whether Mr. Jesus Manuel Flores, should be permanently excluded from the SRPMIC at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, October 29, 2019 at the Community's Administrative Complex, Two Waters, Council Chambers (the Administrative Complex is on the corner of Longmore and Osborn Roads), Scottsdale, Arizona 85256.

Mr. Jesus Manuel Flores has the right to an advocate or legal counsel at the hearing. In addition, the hearing will be conducted in an informal manner (for example, the rules of evidence will not apply at the hearing).
